

Sergeant Major PoodankMcGee serves as the Chief of Staff of the Incel Protection Force, the Incel Liberation Movement, and the International Brotherhood of Men.

PoodankMcGee, while struggling with a lack of aesthetics and ability to socially connect with normies since his earliest years, was first struck with the brutality of what he would later know as the Black Pill when he was diagnosed with severe Crohn's disease at age 15 and required a surgery to remove his large intestine and create a colostomy bag, a burden he carries to this day and which has greatly impeded him from romantic fulfillment. SGM McGee began lurking incels.me and the original incels.me Discord in 2018, formally joining the forum upon witnessing the media reaction to Alek Minassian's Toronto Express and the unabashed demonization of all incelism that followed.

SGM McGee is known for his high effort, high IQ postings, using his particularly undeniable example of incelism to debunk just-world fallacy argumentation and the various other forms of sycophantic rhetoric spouted by bluepillers and IncelTears cuckolds. His combination of academic knowledge, piercing verbiage, and shitposting humor has been a potent source of advocacy and entertainment for the incel community. The undeniable and unalterable nature of his incelism thoroughly refutes bluepill arguments that incels are in control of their looks and personality and sexual attractiveness. He particularly enjoys covering and engaging with political, historical, and scientific topics as they pertain to incelism and sociosexual dynamics.

SGM Maj. McGee is especially qualified to serve among the officer corps due to the combination of his rhetorical skills, psychological education, and military-adjacent experience. His online interactions and forum history establish his alignment with the values and mission of the IBM, while his real-world work history exemplifies the necessary skillset to lead effectively. SGM McGee graduated high school as a salutatorian in the top 1% of his class and went on to earn a Bachelor of Science in Psychology at an elite Ivy-esque university. He was interested not in traditional therapeutic Jewry but rather in the more fundamental questions of studying the human mind and the nature of consciousness, and extreme mind-states experienced by those who undergo mystical experiences from activities such as meditation, fasting, psychedelic drugs, etc. However, upon growing disillusioned with the SJW brain rot and universal faggotry that has infected the very fabric of higher education, he went on to serve as a personnel specialist in the U.S. military, where he has gained knowledge of military customs and organization. During this time, he has completed military leadership training equivalent to the rank of Sergeant/Staff Sergeant/Petty Officer 2nd Class.

SGM McGee endeavors to contribute to the IBM mission to make the world a better place for incels and similarly disenfranchised men—and to promote visibility and recognition of incelism as a disadvantaged minority demographic. He looks forward to leading and learning from his comrades and stewarding the IBM to a glorious future.
