

Sergeant General Alek is a long serving member of the real world incel movement whose affiliation with the IPF and the IBM began when these entities were in their incipient stages of development. Alek is one of the few currently serving members of the IPF who can rightfully claim that he has supported the efforts of the leader of the real world incel movement, Captain Darth Aurelius, since he founded the IPF nearly two years ago.

SGT Alek has suffered a horrific life of immiserating isolation, social ostracization and recurrent rejection and humiliation by foids both on account of his inferior aesthetics as well as his moderate autism. Not only has the conventional world of neural-typical normies sought to denigrate Alek, but so too has he been made to endure the insufferable hostility that has come from within the incelosphere itself. Indeed, due to both his status as a properly consummated incelebrity as well as his unwavering devotion to the cause of a real world incel revolutionary movement, SGT Alek has incurred the scorn and contempt of many fellow incels.

SGT Alek's contributions to both the advancement of the strategic objectives of the real world incel movement as well as the vitality of the incelosphere more generally have been many. He began as a prolific and notorious forum user on incels.is, a place which has since been exposed as a false flag operation managed by the FBI. Due to his steadfast allegiance to the cult of Elliot Roger as well as his commitment to proselytizing the message of incel liberation, the common forum users of the .is community who are renowned for their low iq and lack of critical thinking skills, derided him as a false prophet and raging turbosperg.

It was at this time that Alek fully renounced his former affiliation with the so-called .is "community" and repudiated his prior association with its admin, Lamarcus Small who had publicly humiliated Alek and rebuffed his many attempts at honorable reconciliation. Alek believed that he would then be consigned to forever wander the virtual wastelands that are inhabited by those lost souls who have been banned or rejected by all conventional incel forums. But almighty Allah had a greater purpose for Alek and as such, Captain Darth Aurelius, acting as the instrument of the will of Allah, welcomed him back to the ranks of the IPF and renewed his faith in both the fraternity and fellowship of incel comrades as well as in Salafi Islam, which Alek has since fully embraced as a pious fundamentalist Muslim.

SGT Alek formerly served as a frontline soldier in the IPF, a recruitment specialist as well as the recruitment supervisor and he now has the tremendous and very great honor of serving as the Operations Manager for the IPF and the IBM and as such, is ranked third in precedence in the real world Incel Movement. Alek wishes to give thanks and praise to almighty Allah for granting him the honor of serving as a leader in the incel movement and likewise reiterates his pledge to devote his life to serving and obeying Captain Darth Aurelius, a man of true Islamic honor and vision.
